THE AUTHOR

MOHAMMED HASSAN AL-MOUSSA

INTRODUCTION

May Allah send peace, blessings and mercy upon our Prophet ﷺ, the comfort of our eyes and our intercessor on the Day of Judgment, and upon those who longed to meet him.

You may think that your impact requires a great achievement, a high position, or that people must know you. But the truth is that an impact can begin with a word you said, advice you offered, a hand you extended to someone in need, or a good deed that nobody knew about.

This book, A Trace to the Sky, contains ideas and ways to bring peace to your heart, help you feel at ease, improve yourself, and draw closer to Allah.

And here our journey begins...

WHAT HAVE YOU GIVEN FOR YOUR FAITH?

You do not have to be a famous preacher or a great scholar. Serving your faith begins with the simplest things: Have you spoken about Allah with a friend? Shared a verse or a meaningful reminder? Defended your faith with a wise word? Or offered sincere religious advice?

A person may utter a word pleasing to Allah without realizing its importance, and Allah may raise him through it; and a person may utter a word that displeases Allah without realizing its danger.

So do not let your life pass without leaving a trace for Allah.

MATURITY

{وَلَمَّا بَلَغَ أَشُدَّهُ آتَيْنَاهُ حُكْمًا وَعِلْمًا وَكَذَلِكَ نَجْزِي الْمُحْسِنِينَ}

Some things must mature before you receive them. If you take them too early, you may lose them too early.

The One who could have granted victory to the Muslims in Makkah while they were weak granted it later at Badr, allowing them first to grow and mature. The message they carried was far greater than worldly power: the message of monotheism.

If an egg is broken before the chick is fully formed, it dies. If wheat is harvested too early, it never becomes bread. Food that has not received enough heat comes out raw.

Everything has its proper time. Do not rush.

CHARACTER

Allah says about the Messenger ﷺ:

“It was by the mercy of Allah that you were gentle with them.
Had you been harsh and hard-hearted,
they would have turned away from you.”

If this was said about the protected Messenger ﷺ, what about us?

A person may rise in position, become a manager,
and imagine that he owns the world,
while forgetting his character and failing to grow in it.

Good character is one of the foundations of faith.
It draws people toward the religion of Allah and earns its owner praise and reward.

Bad character pushes people away from faith and brings blame and punishment.

Allah, make us light in our passing,
while leaving behind a lasting good trace.

Whenever life feels narrow, remember the words of Abu Ubaydah ibn al-Jarrah as he comforted Umar ibn al-Khattab: This world is only a few passing days. Do not grieve; everything in it is tiring, and everyone in it is tired. Praise Allah that it is not our permanent home. It is only a passing stage.

Whenever life weighs on you, remember that Allah is more merciful to you than anything else, that what He has is better and everlasting, and that after hardship comes ease, after exhaustion comes rest, and after patience comes a healing suited to your heart.

Be at peace. Do not carry tomorrow's burden. This world is short, while the Hereafter is the true home. O Allah, grant us Your mercy and the joy of seeing Your noble Face.

ANXIETY

You may wish for your path to be easy so that you can be safe, but salvation comes from Allah alone, not from the path itself.

“Is Allah not sufficient for His servant?”

We have heard this verse many times, but we must reflect upon it and live by it. Know with certainty that this world belongs to Allah, provision comes from Allah, and your future is in Allah's hands alone. You only need to carry one concern: how to please Allah.

If you please him,
He will be pleased with you, satisfy you, protect you, and enrich you.

DIVINE GUIDANCE

Whatever happens to you in life is ultimately by the guidance and enabling of the Lord of the worlds, not merely by your own effort. Remember: my guidance is by Allah, my steadfastness is by Allah, my success is by Allah, and all the affairs of my life are by Allah.

So rely upon Him and think well of Him. He will not disappoint the servant who places his trust in Him.

WHAT DOES DIVINE GUIDANCE MEAN?

Look at the Witr prayer: a single prayer whose time extends from after the night prayer until true dawn. Only a small number of Muslims are enabled to stand for it and honor it.

This is the essence of divine guidance: that Allah grants a person hidden acts of worship and makes them beloved to his heart. Whoever is enabled to do them should praise Allah greatly.

DO NOT WORRY

The human being is hasty and ignorant; he rushes ahead while goodness is still coming, and he worries while Allah is his Lord.

human being, this journey is not yours alone. Allah is with you, caring for you, and His mercy surrounds you through every possibility.

So why worry?

Your trust in Allah, always and forever, is the key to success in this world and the Hereafter.

EXCELLENCE

Never think that you lost any dignity, strength, or status when you overlooked someone's mistake or answered their hurt with silence and kindness.

When you choose silence in the right place, you are not running away; you are rising.

When you show goodness to someone who harmed you, you are not defeated; you are victorious over yourself.

Our lives are not a battlefield for settling scores as much as they are a test of what we carry inside.

The world turns, hearts are repaid, and everything is recorded. Nothing of patience is lost with Allah, and no act of kindness is forgotten by Him.

BLESSINGS

Because we become so accustomed to blessings, we begin to see our days as repetitive routines. Yet being healthy, safe, and surrounded by family and loved ones is among the greatest blessings a person can live with.

The Prophet ﷺ said: “Whoever among you wakes up safe among his people, healthy in his body, and possessing the food for his day, it is as though the whole world has been gathered for him.”

CONTENTMENT

The truly fortunate person is the one who is content in every situation.

Recognize the value of the blessings around you and train yourself to thank the Giver for them.

Whoever is content with what is in his hands and does not keep his eyes fixed on what others possess will find that life becomes steadier and its steps are directed toward goodness.

THE QURAN

A reminder: while walking, driving, exercising, waiting, or sitting at home, set aside even 20 minutes each day to listen to the Quran in a voice you love.

By Allah, with consistency you will find a great effect on your heart and your life.

“Surely, in the remembrance of Allah do hearts find rest.”

LIFE

Three matters must settle firmly in your heart: there is no escape from death; there is no complete rest in this world; and there is no complete safety from people's harm.

These are part of life, so learn to accept and live with them. No one knows when death will come, so be ready in every circumstance. Work for your worldly life as though you will live forever, and work for your Hereafter as though you will die tomorrow.

The human being was created in hardship: effort, fatigue, worry, and struggle. Yet remember: your striving will be seen and rewarded.

Whatever your name, title, country, or position, people will talk about you. So do what pleases Allah.

People spoke about the best person to walk this earth, our beloved Prophet Muhammad ﷺ , peace be upon him.

They called him a madman and a magician and harmed him. Yet Allah comforted him and directed him to glorify his Lord and continue worshipping Him until certainty came.

Do not build your life around people's approval.

ILLNESS

Illnesses are among the means through which Allah wipes away sins. The Prophet said that no fatigue, illness, sorrow, harm, or even a thorn afflicts a Muslim except that Allah expiates some of his sins through it.

Illness can be one of the greatest hardships, but Allah can turn it into purification and reward. Whoever is content receives contentment; whoever chooses anger gains only its burden.

SUPPLICATION

Supplication is the believer's weapon. One of the reasons for answered prayer is being confident that Allah will answer in the best way.

Do not forget that there were days when you prayed to Allah for things you possess today.

A beautiful supplication is: Allah, let the expiation of my sins be through forgiveness from You, not through a calamity that harms my faith, myself, my family, my wealth, or my child.”

STEADFASTNESS

{فَتَرَلَّ قَدَمٌ بَعْدَ ثُبُوتِهَا وَتَذُوقُوا السُّوءَ بِمَا صَدَدْتُمْ عَنْ سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ وَلَكُمْ عَذَابٌ عَظِيمٌ}

So that a foot may slip after it had been firm, and you may taste the evil because you turned people away from the way of Allah.”

These are frightening verses that should awaken us from heedlessness. That is why we often say in prostration:

“O Turner of hearts, keep our hearts firm upon Your religion.”
Imagine a firm foot—not shaken, not hesitant, not wavering.

The Prophet ﷺ taught that the human heart is between the fingers of Allah; He turns it as He wills.

Ask Him for steadfastness

PARADISE

Paradise is precious. Paradise is precious. Paradise is precious.

Do you think you will reach it through endless comfort, endless procrastination, and repeated heedlessness?

Rise, servant of Allah, and strive before your record is closed and before a day comes when you will wish for even one prostration but will be unable to perform it.

PARADISE — TRUE REST

The rest, peace, safety, and tranquility you seek will be found there. For the one who places his first step in Paradise, there is true happiness.

There you will harvest the fruits of what you did in this world.

If one of you could see the edge of Paradise, he would realize why prayer deserves persistence and why effort is never wasted.

DIVINE CHOICE

What Allah chooses for you is good for you, even if you do not know it. After some time, you may notice that Allah's choices were better for you than what you wanted.

Do not destroy yourself with regret. Trust the Lord of goodness; goodness comes only from Him.

Perhaps you dislike something while it is good for you, and perhaps you love something while it is bad for you. Allah knows and you do not know.

So find goodness in what Allah has chosen for you.

Allah may write for you a good that you do not know, while the outward appearance of a matter looks like deprivation.

If you knew what Allah intended as a replacement, you would say: Praise be to You, my Allah, Your generosity is vast.

Submit the matter to the Most Merciful and be content with it. He is the All-Seeing, the All-Knowing, fully aware of His servant's condition and pain.

THE PURPOSE

You must know your essential purpose in this world.
What is the purpose for which Allah created you?

{وَمَا خَلَقْتُ الْجِنَّ وَالْإِنْسَ إِلَّا لِيَعْبُدُونِ}

Scholars explained worship through its many forms.
Whatever you see in this world, however impressive it may be, do not let it distract you from knowing your goal and your ultimate purpose.

“Worship your Lord until certainty comes to you.”

PRAYER

The first deed for which a servant will be questioned on the Day of Resurrection is prayer. If it is sound, the rest of his deeds are sound; if it is corrupt, the rest are corrupt.

Prayer is the connection between the servant and his Lord. It brings comfort and strengthens the believer with faith. As the Prophet ﷺ said to Bilal: "Give us comfort through it, Bilal."

The Prophet said: “The covenant between us and them is prayer; whoever abandons it has disbelieved.” Think about how serious it is to abandon it.

No one should be unable to meet his Lord five times every day. Even when your mood changes, your relationship with Allah should not.

Ibn Uthaymeen explained that darkness surrounds a person in the grave, but for the people of prayer their graves become light. Guard your prayer.

THE HEREAFTER

A sleeping person does not realize what he has lost until he wakes. In the same way, the heedless person does not realize what he has wasted of the Hereafter until death comes.

our Lord, do not make us among the heedless.

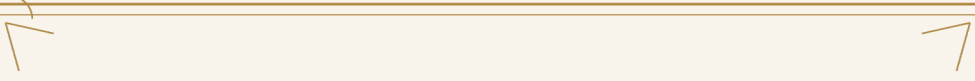

Shaykh Ibn Uthaymeen said: When the intelligent person reads the Quran with understanding, he recognizes the true value of this world and that it is not worth much in itself.

It is a field in which you plant for the Hereafter. So look carefully at what you are planting for your eternal life.

THIS WORLD

Ibn Umar reported that the Messenger of Allah took him by the shoulder and said: “Be in this world as though you were a stranger or a passing traveler.”

This encourages longing for the Hereafter and detachment from excessive attachment to this world, because this world is the place of action, testing, and trial, while the Hereafter is the place of permanence and reward.

No heart forgives without living in comfort. No soul accepts Allah's decree without becoming content. No spirit thanks Allah constantly without waking with a smile.

Live in this world like a passing traveler. Leave behind every beautiful trace. We are only guests in this world, and a guest eventually departs.

GRATITUDE

Do not wait for a huge blessing before thanking Allah.

Thank Him for the smallest blessings you already have:
your health, family, safety, security, home, and more.

All of these deserve gratitude every day.

Ask people who have lost them or never had them.

Praise Allah for the smallest blessings, the greatest blessings, the simplest and the deepest. Praise Allah for every blessing He has given you.

Remember the words of Allah: “If you are grateful, I will surely increase you; but if you are ungrateful, My punishment is severe.”

When you thank Allah for His blessings, He increases you from His bounty. When a person denies a blessing, he exposes himself to its loss and to punishment.

Blessings grow through gratitude.

HEALING HEARTS

Comforting hearts is among the greatest human acts and the finest forms of worship that remain in people's hearts.

One of the greatest doors of happiness is that Allah makes you a means of comforting people's hearts. Whoever comforts another, Allah comforts him in times of hardship.

Do not underestimate comforting a heart, even with a kind word. A single word may light a dark road.

Comforting hearts is a hidden charity that people may not see, but Allah records it as light in the heart and reward that does not end.

Do not think your simple words are unimportant.

They may be!

because they touched a broken heart.

A divine principle: whoever becomes among people a comforter of hearts, Allah reaches him with His care in the depths of hardship.

HOW YOU TREAT OTHERS

Your dealings with people should be the kind of treatment you would accept for yourself. It is not right to treat people badly while expecting them to treat you well.

We have the best example in our Prophet Muhammad ﷺ.

peace be upon him: “A Muslim is the brother of another Muslim; he does not wrong him, abandon him, or belittle him.”

TRIALS

Allah may test you while you are young, not to punish you, but to shape you, elevate you,

and build a person whom the hardships of life cannot defeat.

Allah says: "And I bestowed upon you love from Me, so that you may be brought up under My watchful care."

A trial can be part of your growth and formation, not proof that you have been abandoned

TRIALS — THE STORY OF JOSEPH

Joseph, peace be upon him, was thrown into a well, then survived, then became a servant in the house of the ruler of Egypt, then was imprisoned unjustly, and finally became a ruler of Egypt.

From his story we learn that sorrow, however long it lasts, must be followed by relief; and trials, however severe, can end in empowerment from Allah for the one who is patient and steadfast.

The story begins with a well, passes through servitude and prison, and ends with kingship—a proof that Allah never wastes the reward of the patient.

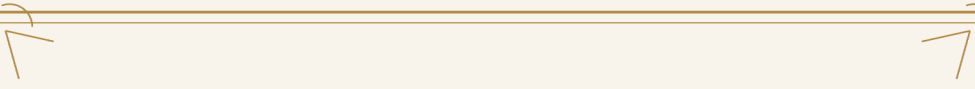

COLLECTIVE WORSHIP

One of the problems we can fall into is becoming dependent on collective worship and letting the crowd determine our devotion.

If people fast, I fast; if they pray, I pray; if they sit, I sit.

But where is your own character and your own relationship with Allah?

“Each of them will come to Him on the Day of Resurrection alone.” You will come to Allah alone and stand before Him alone. Train yourself to have a private connection with your Lord.

In worship, do not always look at other people. People's motivation and determination may weaken.

After Ramadan, do not let your night prayer stop simply because Taraweeh has ended.

And after Ramadan, do not let fasting stop completely.

Continue with voluntary fasting and keep your connection with Allah alive.

DAILY REMEMBRANCE

Many people do not realize that the morning and evening remembrances are a powerful fortress. By Allah's command they protect you from the harms of this world, bring you closer to Him, expand your chest, and relieve your worries.

Ibn Uthaymeen said that the morning and evening remembrances are among the strongest means of protection for the one who says them with a present heart.

They are a safeguard and one of the best ways to begin your day with Allah.

Neglecting remembrance resembles entering a battle without a fortress, shield, sword, or weapon. A powerless person may be struck from one side and then another, and only Allah's gentleness saves him.

Make remembrance a consistent habit, because without consistency it does not produce its full benefit.

THE FRIEND

A friend is like an elevator: he can pull you upward or drag you downward.

A righteous friend pulls you upward, reminds you, encourages you to pray, does good, and keeps reminding you of Allah. You will not grow tired of sitting with him, and his words return goodness to you.

A bad friend pulls you downward. After some time with him, you may notice that you no longer pray and that you are drifting away from your Lord. He does not advise you or remind you of Allah.

The Messenger of Allah said: “A person follows the religion of his close friend, so let each of you look at whom he befriends.” Choose carefully whom you accompany.

Allah says that close friends on that Day will be enemies to one another except the righteous. Every friendship that is not for Allah can turn into enmity on the Day of Resurrection; what is for Allah remains.

Whoever mixes with a perfumer receives some of his fragrance, while whoever mixes with a blacksmith receives some of his smoke and sparks.

CONTENTMENT

Do not keep stretching your eyes toward what We have given some people of the flowers of worldly life with which We test them; the provision of your Lord is better and more lasting.

Do not exhaust yourself with comparisons. The wider your eyes become, the tighter your chest can become. Be content with what Allah has allotted to you and thank Him; you will become among the richest of people. Be certain that no one has been given everything, and that something you possess may be exactly what another person wishes for.

PERHAPS IT IS GOOD

Among the most truthful words in their effect upon the soul are words that make you feel peace and surrender, help you trust Allah while taking the means, and give you contentment with what He decrees and writes for you.

All of His plans ultimately lead to good.

PROVISION

Whatever provision has been written for you will come to you. The Messenger of Allah said that provision seeks the servant more intensely than his appointed time seeks him.

Allah swears that our provision is in the heaven and that what we are promised is true. This is a direct divine assurance that the provision of His servants is apportioned and preserved in the heavens.

The Quran teaches that Satan promises poverty and commands immorality, while Allah promises forgiveness and bounty.

Provision is not only money. It includes peace of mind, health, a loyal friend, and guidance of the heart.

What missed you was never created for you, and what was created for you will never miss you.

TRIALS OF FAITH

Allah says: “Do people think they will be left to say, ‘We believe,’ and they will not be tested?”

Allah tests His believing servants according to their faith. The sound hadith teaches that the people most severely tested are the prophets, then those closest to them in righteousness, and then those after them according to their faith.

Trials reveal sincerity and increase steadfastness.

Allah tested those before us so that truthfulness would be distinguished from false claims.

He knows what has been and what will be,

and He knows the reality of every person's claim of faith.

The scholars of the Sunnah agree that Allah's knowledge encompasses what is, what was, and what will be.

OPTIMISM

Why not be optimistic in your life?

In the sacred hadith, Allah says: “I am as My servant thinks of Me, and I am with him when he remembers Me.”

Think well of your Lord always. Be optimistic and expect goodness, and goodness will come to you by Allah's permission.

OPTIMISM — THE STORY OF MOSES

When Moses, peace be upon him, reached the sea, he had absolute trust that Allah would save him. He thought well of his Lord.

The sea was in front of him and the enemy behind him, yet he remained firm and optimistic about Allah's goodness. Then Allah's command came:

“Strike the sea with your staff,” and it parted, each portion becoming like a great mountain.

FAMILY

First your family and home, then your other relationships.

Beware of letting friendships and outside relationships make you place others above your family.

Keep your home and family in the first position and other relationships in the second.

When you fall ...

You will see with your own eyes who stands beside you first:

« your family »

The Prophet Muhammad ﷺ, peace be upon him, was the best of people to his family. His dealings were marked by kindness, mercy, humility, and sharing the burdens of daily life. He made his home a place of love and tranquility.

He emphasized: “The best of you are the best to their families, and I am the best of you to my family.”

He served his family and lived these words.

YOU ARE WHAT YOU PRACTICE

A principle in human nature: what you practice every day becomes what you master.

Whoever constantly lives with worry will remain anxious even at the sound of his phone. Whoever sees life as dark may fail to notice the light.

You are the result of what you repeatedly tell yourself and practice every day.

BUILD GOOD HABITS

Train yourself to enjoy beneficial lectures. Train yourself to read the Quran. Train yourself to listen to the Quran. Train yourself to follow people who provide content that benefits your faith and pleases Allah.

Train yourself to keep company with people who add knowledge and benefit to your life. Train yourself to read religious books and to exercise.

All these habits benefit you in your worldly life and your Hereafter.

VERIFY THE NEWS

Allah says: “O believers, if a sinful person brings you news, verify it.”

The verse was revealed in connection with a report involving al-Walid ibn Uqbah and Banu al-Mustaliq. A misunderstanding occurred, but the truth became clear when the situation was checked carefully.

The lesson is clear: when news reaches you, verify it before acting. Do not let an unverified report lead you to wrong someone.

Whenever news reaches you, you must verify it and return to its source to confirm it. Otherwise, you may wrong someone through injustice and false accusation because of something you heard.

Ibn Taymiyyah explained that many people who transmit reports may not intend to lie, but they may words without understanding their intended meaning, making it difficult to know what was actually meant.

So verify before judging.

THE LOSS OF BLESSING

Aisha, may Allah be pleased with her, said that after the Prophet's death, the food in her home was enough for one person. It was only a small amount of barley on the shelf, but she kept cooking from it and taking what she needed each day.

The barley lasted for a long time. Then she began weighing it every day. At that point, its blessing disappeared. She later said that when she measured it, it began to decrease.

The lesson is not to abandon financial management, but to avoid excessive obsession and constant fixation on money.

Scholars used this story to explain that obsessive counting can remove blessing. This does not mean you should not manage your money. You should know where your money goes and where it comes from.

But excessive scrutiny becomes another matter: holding every bill and receipt and constantly asking where every small amount went can turn into harmful obsession.

Balance is important; do not let money consume your attention.

Do not be surprised if excessive fixation on money gradually makes a person stingy. It may begin with small steps: "Where did my money go?"

Then caution increases until it becomes obsession, and obsession becomes miserliness.

The problem is not caring about your money. The problem is exaggeration until it becomes the opposite of what you intended.

Do not let your wealth become the focus of your life.

INTENTION

Intention has a great status with Allah. If you intend a good deed but do not perform it, a reward may still be written for you as though you had done it.

So be careful about the sincerity of your intention and make it purely for Allah. Refine your intentions even in your dealings with people. Consider intention a key to good deeds.

Praise Allah, who made sincere intentions a source of reward.

There is a famous saying: “Everyone sees people through his own nature.” A corrupt person may assume that others think like him, and he treats them accordingly; his actions and reactions expose what is inside him.

The righteous person with a good intention thinks well of people, treats them with good character, and that goodness appears in his words and actions.

I advise myself and you to reform what is hidden: your inner self, your private moments, and your intentions. When the inside is sound, the outside becomes sound.

INNER PEACE

Nothing deserves to exhaust your soul and your health for its sake.

Ignore those who ignore you, and care for those who care about you.

Your inner peace should always come first. Let go of whoever has left your life and protect the peace that remains.

MOST PEOPLE

If you search the Quran for the phrase “most people,” you will find many descriptions such as: they do not know, they do not believe, they are not grateful, they are heedless, they do not understand, they turn away, or they do not listen.

So be among the few.

“Few of My servants are truly grateful.” “None believed with him except a few.” “A small group from the first generations and a small group from the later generations.”

INSPIRATION

Ibn Taymiyyah said: “When Allah intends good for a servant, He inspires him to supplicate and makes his supplication a means toward the good He has decreed for him.”

Ibn al-Qayyim said: “Whoever is inspired to make supplication has been shown that it is intended to be answered. When the servant is given this key, Allah intends to open for him.”

SOME QUALITIES OF THE PROPHET

The Prophet Muhammad ﷺ peace be upon him, was gentle-hearted and gracious in his dealings. He was kind with his companions and did not humiliate anyone. Whoever saw him felt awe, and whoever knew him loved him.

He loved people and they loved him. He did not speak obscenely, insult anyone, or reject a person who asked him for something. He was gentle and neither harsh nor rude.

Send blessings upon our Prophet Muhammad ﷺ.

A GREAT HADITH

A sound hadith, narrated by Abu Dawud, al-Tirmidhi, al-Hakim and others, states that the words of seeking forgiveness are simple but powerful.

“Whoever says: I seek forgiveness from Allah, there is no deity except Him, the Ever-Living, the Sustainer, and I repent to Him, three times, will be forgiven, even if he had fled from the battlefield.”

Keep your tongue alive with sincere remembrance and seek Allah's forgiveness often.

FASTING

Fasting has a tremendous reward, and in Paradise there is a gate called Al-Rayyan for those who fast.

The Prophet ﷺ conveyed that Allah says: “Every deed of the son of Adam is for him except fasting; it is for Me, and I shall reward him for it.”

Allah did not specify the measure of its reward, but told us that He Himself rewards it. Know how noble this act of worship is.

“Whoever does righteous deeds, male or female, while being a believer, We will surely give them a good life and reward them according to the best of what they used to do.”

HONORING THE DECEASED

One of the greatest forms of loyalty is the loyalty of the living to the dead. It is a pure loyalty with no worldly interest, heard by no one except Allah.

We do not see them and they do not see us. Part of goodness and loyalty is to remember them, even with a supplication.

Allah, reward them with goodness for their goodness, forgive their sins, cleanse them of mistakes as a white garment is cleansed of dirt, make their graves gardens from the gardens of Paradise, comfort their loneliness, have mercy on their solitude, and light their darkness.

CONCLUSION

Praise be to Allah, Lord of the worlds, who favored me, blessed me, and enabled me to complete this book. I tried to show that your righteous deeds can leave an impact that goes beyond the boundaries of this world and rises toward Allah.

Every good word, righteous deed, or help you offer may have an effect you never see, yet it remains with Allah. How many people are famous on earth but unknown in heaven? And how many are unknown on earth but known in heaven?

The measure with Allah is piety, not strength. "Indeed, the most honored of you in the sight of Allah is the most righteous of you. Allah is All-Knowing, All-Aware."

WHAT DID YOU LEAVE BEHIND?

At the end of this journey, the question with which we began remains the same: What have you given?

You may not be able to change the whole world. No one may applaud you, and your beautiful deeds may pass unnoticed. But that does not mean they have no value.

A kind word, sincere advice, help you offered, or good deed you performed—these may look small in your eyes, but they can be with Allah.

Days pass and people leave, but a good trace may remain.

So what will your trace be?
